The Sawyer Lumber Co. are rebuilding about one hundred feet of Teweles & Brandeis' dock, which is used by the former firm for unloading lumber from boats. The repairs are temporary as the owners of the property are planning on filling in under the structure with stone in the near future which will make a permanent job of it.

Many of the hook and line fishermen have taken their shanties off the ice as the warm weather of last week made the ice unsafe south of the bridge.

The Goodrich boat did not call at Teweles & Brandeis dock Sunday evening and it is not likely that a boat will call there for another week or more.

Carl Schaefer, who has been at Menominee for several years, returned here last week and if he can find employment will move back to Sawyer to reside.

JEWELRY and Watch repairing is TOSTESON's hobby.

Since the Sylvia broke the channel open from the canal to the Goodrich dock the Sawyer fishermen come down from the canal every night. It may be a couple of weeks before they will be able to land at their docks on this side of the bay.

The construction crew of the G. B. & W. Ry. Co., who have been making repairs to the railway bridge and also to the side track leading to Teweles & Brandeis elevator, completed their work Monday and left for Green Bay on the afternoon train.

Martin Hayes and Rasmus Monosso are fishing together and Pat Hayes and Elmer Page. The latter are fitting out Pat Hayes' mackinaw fish boat and will use it as soon as the ice leaves the head of the bay. All the fishermen have made fairly good lifts during the week.

Leonard Pfeifer opened his new meat market in the Fagel building on Monday. He has one of the best sausage machines on the market as well as one of the latest improved lard rendering kettles. The latter is a double kettle heated by steam and it is impossible to burn lard in it.

Mart Hayes has ordered a twine lifter for his fish boat similar to the one used on the Sylvia. It will be operated with a 2½ H. P. gasolene engine and, will be the first machine lifter put onto a gasolene fish boat in this vicinity and will enable him to run a larger gang of nets.

The number of farmers seen in town daily has decreased very materially since the pea straw fodder has all been disposed of. The roads have been in very poor condition of late and the people from the rural districts do not come to town unless they have something necessary to come for.

The Warner boys are having their launch lengthened out in the boat shop of M. B. Peterson. The craft will be cut in two amidships and lengthened three feet, and two feet will be added to the stern, making the boat twenty-three feet long over all. The changes will make the boat a better carrier and increase her speed.

The Sawyer Lumber Co. are rebuilding about one hundred feet of Teweles & Brandeis' dock, which is used by the former firm for unloading lumber from boats. The repairs are temporary as the owners of the property are planning on filling in under the structure with stone in the near future which will make a permanent job of it.

Charles Washburn has sold his residence on State street to John Leidle, of Nasewaupee. The residence will be occupied soon by Peter Hagman. Mr. Washburn will build a new residence on an adjoining lot and work will be commenced as soon as the frost is out of the ground. The sale was made by Chas. Graf, the local real estate dealer.

L. P. Nobel has moved the bay warehouse belonging to Lyon Bros. from the north to the south side of the dock. The dock where the warehouse formerly stood will be filled in with stone and dirt and used for a coal dock. This will make it much more convenient for boats to unload coal as it will not be necessary to wheel it so far to dump it.

The marine men who assist greatly in stimulating the social and business life of Sawyer during the long winter months have commenced to leave for various points on the Great Lakes to resume their duties for the season. The first to leave were Capt. John Peterson, who went to Kewaunee Saturday to fit out the government tug Industry; and Ashley Cofrin and Theod. Welter, who left the same day for Detroit, Mich., where they will act as first and second engineers, respectively, on the tug Sydney Smith.

John Rank and Peter Haen have formed a co-partnership and will together conduct the meat market in Mr. Rank's new building. Mr. Haen will do all the buying in the county and will keep the Sawyer market and the two Haen markets on the east side supplied with all kinds of meat. Mr. Rank will have charge of the market, look after the shipments to the outside market and be general manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hayes, Sr., who are spending the winter at Los Angeles, Cal., are planning on returning here in the near future. They have enjoyed the climate very much as well as their visit with relatives. Among the former Door county people with whom they have visited is Alphonse Hoslett, who is engaged in raising beans on a large scale. Last year he raised 150 acres of beans which sold for $7,000, and this year he will plant 250 acres of the same varieties.

Lars Jensen returned from New York Wednesday with thirty-three men who will work in the quarries of the Green Stone & Quarrying Co., and the Sturgeon Bay Stone Co. They will be boarded at the quarries and are a respectable looking lot of men and several of them can speak good English. Most of them are natives of Norway and Sweden. This is the first time the local quarry companies have sent outside for men but they were compelled to do it this year as they have some large contracts to fill and were unable to secure enough men here last year to keep the quarries running to their full capacity.

Pat Hayes and Elmer Page, who are fishing with the gasolene boat Sea Gull, came near spending Monday night out in the lake. They had lifted their nets and were on their way to the canal when the pin that holds the propeller wheel on the shaft became loose and they were compelled to run the engine very slow to prevent the wheel from dropping off the shaft. They did not reach the canal until after dark and if the wind had been northwest on shore their boat would have been carried out into the lake and as a gale of wind came up during the night there is no telling what would have become of them.

The Green Stone and Quarrying Co. on Saturday closed the contract for the purchase of the barges A. A. Carpenter and Myron Butman from Capt. Jas. Madigan, of Buffalo. The former craft is 165 feet long, with 33 feet beam, and measures 540 gross tons; the latter is 164 feet long, 31 feet beam and 424 gross tons. This will give the company three very good stone carriers and with the big tug Torrent to tow them they will be able to make quick trips as they are all good sea boats and are in good condition. A peculiar coincidence in connection with this sale is the fact that the barge Baldwin was used for many years to tow the Carpenter and Butman and the last trip the Baldwin made under her own motive power these same two tow barges were her consorts. It will be remembered that the Baldwin was sunk in Green Bay several years ago while endeavoring to force her way through the ice with the two barges in tow and the local stone company purchased the wreck and raised it after which the machinery was taken out and the hull repaired and converted into a stone barge.

James Hall tells a good joke on three gentlemen from Sawyer which is well worth putting in print. One night last week two ladies from the east side, who had been in Sawyer to visit friends, and were on their way across the bridge observed several men ahead of them who were talking very loud and gesticulating in a manner that lead the ladies to believe there was danger of a fight. They quickly retraced their steps and on meeting Mr. Hall told him their trouble and requested him to accompany them across the bridge past the threatening danger. Imagine their surprise upon coming up to the men, who were still engaged in conversation, to find that they were none others than Alderman Roth, Chief of Police Schjoth and Chas. Washburn, who were engaged in discussing the business that was done by the city council at a meeting held that same evening. The gentlemen were very much surprised on learning that Officer Hall was about to arrest them for being drunk and disorderly as none of them had ever before been accused of such a misdemeanor.

A WARNING

TO USERS OF CREAM SEPARATORS.

The following letter has been received by us relative to the infringments by certain separator manufacturers upon certain patents owned only by the United States Cream Separator.

BELLOWS FALLS, VT., Mar. 11, 1908.

SAWYER IMPLEMENT CO.,
Sawyer, Wis.

Gentlemen:—

All Economy Separators purchased previous to Dec. 13th, last contained the infringement, according to the decision of the court, and all persons using those infringing machines will sooner or later be compelled to desist from using them. We have gone into this fight to assert our rights, and we propose to do so. It may take us some time to get around to everybody, but we feel pretty certain we shall reach the most of them before we get through. There may be now and then a man that will keep his Separator in hiding so we cannot find it, but as a rule, they will have to desist using the infringing Separators.

The same is true with the infringing Iowa Dairy Separators, they will have to stop using them. We are willing to take any of these infringing Economy or Iowa Dairy Separators in part payment for United States Separators, if the parties wish to be reasonable and settle in this way, but if they do not, we shall certainly enforce our rights and see that an injunction is issued against them individually. They will not dare to disobey the Court's orders, because if they do, that means contempt of Court, and there is a pretty heavy penalty for anything of that kind.

Very truly yours,
N. G. WILLIAMS,
Pres. and Manager.

Any further information regarding this matter will be furnished by calling on us.
